BA ACTING FOR SCREEN APPLICATION GUIDANCE FOR YOUR MONOLOGUE

Key points for filming your monologue

- A contemporary monologue means that the text was written after 2000.
- When recording, the monologue must be in your own voice/accent.
- The monologue should be from a published play, script, film or television series, not self-written.
- It should be roughly 1 minute in length
- It should be filmed following the self tape guidance below

Self tape Guidance

- Ideally you will film in front of a blank wall but if this isn't possible try to find a background that isn't too busy.
- Look to get the camera up to eye-level, so you are not shooting too much from below.
- Try to shoot so that you are lit from the front as much as is possible and that you are not in shadow or silhouetted against a window
- Be sure that we can hear you so check your recording for sound.
- Frame yourself in a mid-shot; from the waist up
- Make the camera is level and steady.

Landscape

Portrait

Before beginning your monologue, please say your name, who you are playing, what the piece is called and the writers name, then take a pause and set yourself before you begin.

For example: My name is Adewale Fadugba and I will be playing Character A in 'An Intervention' by Mike Bartlett'

Advice & Tips

Sometimes deciding what to include in your creative work sample can be a challenge, but we're here to help! Here are some top tips for building your sample.

Show us your style!

A creative work sample is how YOU express yourself, how you can take an idea and bring it to life. It shows us your ambition, your skills, your creativity and most importantly, your PASSION.

Be decisive.

You may have a number of ideas you wish to share. A good tip on finding out what you want to include is this - If you can't explain a particular piece, don't include it. We want to see portfolios that express a clear vision.

Be bold

There is no right or wrong way to a creative journey. We want to understand you as a creative and everyone will have a different approach to this. Whether you are creating a project for the first time or sharing a catalogue of existing work - be proud of it!

Don't forget some notes!

Alongside being able to see your work, we'd love to see you talk about it too! We'd love to read about what inspired you to create this piece, what you envisioned, how you approached it and what you may change if you did it again.

How to Apply

You will receive a link to the creative work sample website page, where you can upload your work and supporting statements.
